

Graduate School Attendance Rate

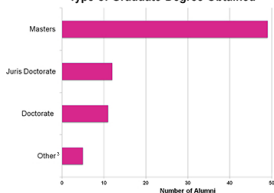

"I believe [URBS] has prepared me well for my current work with students who are engaging in difficult conversations about social change... as well as for graduate school where I will be doing the same."

Graduate Field of Study

"My URBS classes taught me to think analytically, embrace complexity, write coherently, and that it's important to understand academic and grassroots narratives alike."

Type of Graduate Degree Obtained

1. Doctoral areas of study include sociology, geography, education policy, anthropology, and American culture

2. Fields in this category include media and public relations

3. Other degree types include teaching certificate, MEd, and dual graduate degrees

